EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES OF THE MODULE

A glance at the learners is a reference theoretical and methodological framework, thanks to which a critical view of the world and of otherness, respecting the different cultural codes that are increasingly faced in complex societies with regard to the concepts of body and health.

- a) Will be investigated the most important areas of study of the sociology of cultural processes and defined the notions of culture, identity, health, illness and medicine in a comparative perspective; the aspects of migratory flows and strategies for welcoming and managing the foreigner in social paths related to the health of the body will be analyzed.
- b) We will study the notions of progress and life (nutrition, evaluation and adaptation) and problems related to nutrition by demonstrating how the alimentary act of nourishing is not only a response to physiological necessity but also social and identity and therefore cultural.
- c) The Roma community will be investigated, with particular reference to the context of Palermo, in order to show the forms of marginality acting and the stereotyping action of cultural representations.
