EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES OF THE MODULE

The course aims to systematize and develop today's debate on digital media by linking the social uses and practices of the media with some of the most important reflections of contemporary social theory. The analysis of our everyday experience with digital media is placed in the middle of a critical reading of the relationship between media, society and power, and the new forms of inequality, the new asymmetries and injustices that are being created. This critical reading will be integrated and exemplified through the analysis of a case study: the tv serie Black Mirror
