PREREQUISITES	No prerequisites required
LEARNING OUTCOMES	The students will listen to different musical pieces of the Western tradition; they will be able to recognize basic musical forms from different times and genres and to compare works belonging to the same musical genre or style. They will also be able to express judgement using a specialist language.
ASSESSMENT METHODS	Written examination. The students are requested to write a short paper on a assigned subject.
EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES	The course aims at presenting examples of different musical genres of the Western tradition from different times and countries, through listening to live performances. Students will attend both lectures and live performances or rehearsals of opera and concerts. They will be strongly encouraged to discuss the performances they have seen during every session.
TEACHING METHODS	The course includes: 1) Lectures including video presentations; 2) participation in performances or rehearsals organized by Palermo musical institutions; 3) discussion in class about the performances. Attendance to all activities is mandatory.
